"Proofing can cause your dog's performance to improve — even if it doesn't cause him to make a mistake.

A dog will often change his behavior when he encounters a distraction that he recognizes, such as a toy or treat on the ground. The mere presence of the distraction compels him to try harder....."

Data from golden retrievers sheds light on occurrence of skin problems in dogs

<https://caninelifetimehealth.org/all/study-participant-news/data-from-golden-retrievers-sheds-light-on-occurrence-of-skin-problems-in-dogs/>

September 29th, 2016

Skin problems are one of the most common reasons owners take their dog to a veterinarian. We looked at our baseline (starting) data to see what types of skin problems were noted during our study dogs' initial examination, and found that more than one-third of our cohort (1,338 dogs) had at least one skin condition noted at baseline
